

Muhammad Uzair, an electrical engineer based in Peshawar, Pakistan. Uzair is currently engaged in cutting-edge work related to generative artificial intelligence (AI). His expertise lies in the intersection of engineering and AI, where he explores innovative solutions and contributes to advancements in the field. With a passion for technology and a commitment to excellence, Uzair continues to make valuable contributions to the world of electrical engineering and AI research.